Assumptions

- Providing access to behavioral health, legal, or financial services addresses risk factors for youth violence.
- Clients will accept services and be active participants of the services provided.
- Risk factors for youth violence can be addressed by providing parenting education in addition to close evaluation and monitoring of young children at risk for developmental delay.
- Providing financial capability pathways at the location of key services, including health, increases adoption of knowledge and increases overall well being of families and youth.

- Social determinants of health are the conditions in which people are born, grow, live, work and age. These circumstances are shaped by the distribution of money, power and resources at global, national and local levels.
